

Converting documents to PDF is fast, easy, and economical.

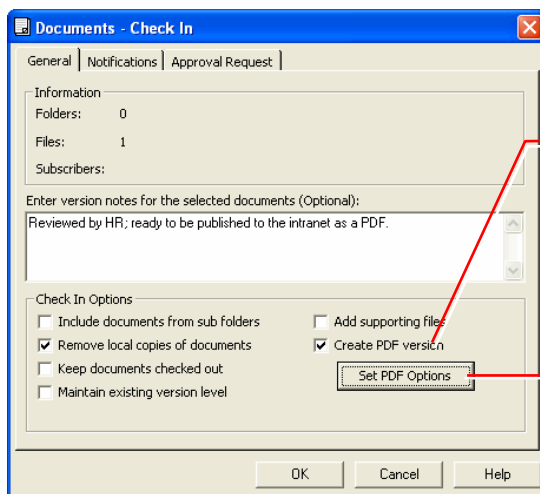

Document Locator's PDF Creator tool makes it easy to create and manage any document in PDF so you can share documents with others locally, by email, or via the Web.

- Save time and money with PDF Creator, an economical alternative to expensive conversion applications.
- Create full-text indexed PDF files that can be found easily using Document Locator's comprehensive search tools.
- Create secure PDF files that can be protected at the desired security level and versioned just like other files.

Eliminate the need for an expensive PDF conversion tool.

PDF Creator is built into Document Locator, so you don't have to purchase a separate, expensive PDF conversion tool. You can convert any document to a PDF file at the same time you check the document in, when you import a document to the repository, or by simply right-clicking the document and selecting to convert it to PDF. You don't have to open up a separate application, and you can easily change the PDF conversion settings at any time. You can also:

- Export any repository document as a PDF file.
- Combine repository documents into a single exportable PDF file.
- Import a document as a PDF file from any application's print dialog box, including applications that are not directly supported by Document Locator.
- Email any document as a PDF file attachment.

Track changes with version control.

PDF Creator is fully integrated into Document Locator's version control system, so you can work on a document in its native format and then, during document check-in, save the next version as a PDF file. The source file remains in its native format, accessible from the document's Version History window. When the time comes to update the document, simply promote the source file to be the latest version and then make your changes.

Here, versions 1 through 5 of the Employee Handbook are saved as Microsoft Word files, but Version 6 is saved as a PDF file.

Secure PDF documents.

PDF creation settings give you the flexibility to apply as much or as little security to PDF documents as needed:

- Protect PDF documents from being altered, printed, or copied.
- Password-protect PDF documents from view.
- Embed fonts, change image settings, page orientation, and more to tailor PDF files to your needs.

Use Document Locator's security tools to further protect your documents:

- Protect source files from alteration by restricting users from viewing any version but the final PDF version.
- Manage PDF file versions the same way you manage non PDF documents: track version number, author, version notes, dates, user activity, and more.

Searchable PDF documents.

Find PDF versions in seconds using Document Locator's comprehensive search tools. Because PDF documents are automatically full-text indexed on conversion, you can search for them based on document content in addition to other search criteria.

- Find all PDF documents by searching on the PDF file type extension.
- Find all documents converted to PDF within a specific time frame.
- Find all documents converted to PDF specifically by PDF Creator.
- Find PDF documents by searching on document content.
