COLUMBIASOFT HEADQUARTERS
MOVING TO NEW LOCATION IN PORTLAND, OREGON

The document management software company outgrows existing offices and will gain expanded training facilities and more office space at new location.

Portland, Oregon – October 27, 2009 – ColumbiaSoft announced today that its Portland, Oregon-based corporate headquarters will relocate before the end of the year to a new location nearby in the city of Portland.

"More office space, larger document management training facilities, and an ideal location to base our worldwide operations out of are the primary reasons we're moving," said ColumbiaSoft executive vice president, David Pogue. "The new offices will give us the room we need to continue to grow."

ColumbiaSoft signed a five-year lease for the new location, which is less than four miles from the company's current offices in the Lincoln Center on S.W. Greenburg Road. Construction of the new headquarters is already underway, and the company plans to relocate by the end of December, 2009. ColumbiaSoft's new corporate address will be: 15495 S.W. Sequoia Parkway, Suite 190, Portland, OR 97224.

In addition to more space, the new offices will offer a better location for ColumbiaSoft to host customers for document management training. Accommodations and services close by, including a Courtyard by Marriott and Starbucks, will make it more comfortable for customers and guests visiting the company.
