COLUMBIASOFT GROWS CUSTOMER BASE BY ONE-THIRD IN 2007

Document Locator is the Document Management Platform of Choice for More Than 600 Businesses in the U.S. and Around the World

Portland, Ore. – December 27, 2007 – ColumbiaSoft, a leading provider of enterprise-class document management solutions, has seen the number of companies using its document management product increase by 33% in the past year. Document Locator is currently used by tens of thousands of people at over 600 businesses in the United States and around the world.

Document Locator helps firms in a wide range of industries effectively organize and manage the thousands of documents and communications involved in every type of business operation, including the management of e-mail and attachments. It also provides remote Web access capabilities to allow employees working outside the office and partners to collaborate and exchange information that is onsite and secure behind corporate firewalls. For architecture, engineering, and construction (AEC) firms in particular, Document Locator includes specialized capabilities which improve the management of computer-aided design (CAD) files, drawings, construction project files, financial documents, and communications.

Over the past year, ColumbiaSoft has seen continued growth in use of Document Locator among AEC firms, including, Judlau Contracting and Tapani Underground. Like existing AEC clients Burns and McDonnell Engineering, James G. Davis Construction Corporation, and HITT Contracting, new customers have deployed Document Locator to enhance collaboration, improve business efficiency and reduce risk. For relevant case studies please visit:

“We are pleased with the significant growth of our customer base this past year and see it as validation both of our solution and the overwhelming need for its capabilities in companies of every size,” said Carl Azar, vice president of marketing and product development for ColumbiaSoft.

“Several more key product enhancements are coming in the first quarter of 2008. One specific enhancement will be of great value to customers wanting to establish Document Locator as an integrated repository of documents related to other business and technical systems such as finance, ERP, project management, human resources, and design. We are excited for continued growth in the coming year.”
